BARMANN WOULDN'T BE EFFECTED MUCH

TO RETAIN FORCE IF FORD PLANT CLOSES

SHORTAGE OF NEW CARS

But There is Good Stock of Supplies —Ford Owns Railroad and Mines

Frank Barmann of the Barmann Auto Company said this morning that if the Henry Ford automobile factory at Detroit is closed September 16 that it will have little effect on his business here, outside of the fact that his company will not be able to supply new cars. He said that it would not necessitate the laying off of any of his force.

Ten thousand dollars worth of supplies and parts for the Ford motor car is kept in stock by the Barmanns. This would supply the car owners for some time. At present rate of shipments enough cars will be delivered here within two weeks to fill all the orders that are in at present.

The Barmanns seem rather optimistic over the situation. They say that they believe that the announcement made by Mr. Ford will speed up a settlement of the coal and rail strikers. They say that the proposed closing of the Ford plant, which would mean that hundreds of thousands of persons in the United States will be thrown out of employment will open the eyes of officials more to the graveness of the situation and that renewed efforts will be made for a settlement of matters.

Earl Barmann says that he believes that the transportation situation for cars and car supplies is affecting the Ford plant more than the coal situation and the transportation of coal, since the Ford company owns its mines in which non-union labor is employed, and a railroad to these mines.

Coming at this time of year, however, if the plant closes, it will mean a shortage of new Ford cars, the Barmanns say. Sales continue heavy throughout the months of September, October and November. Within a few days of the closing of the factory all the new cars in the country will be sold, since Ford company does not keep a stock on hands. As fast as the machines are made they are loaded on cars and shipped out to the dealers throughout the country. When machines are on storage they are always in the local dealers' warehouses. At practically all points in the country the machines are sold at this season as fast as they arrive at the local dealer's place.

C. E. COOK HEADS KANSAS MOVIE MEN

FORMER MARYVILLE BOY GETS FINE POSITION

AS BUSINESS MANAGER

For the Kansas Exhibitors Association An Organization of Motion Picture Men

C. E. Cook of Kansas City, Kan., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cook of this city, has been employed as business manager of the Kansas Exhibitors' association, an organization of motion picture men. The following article is taken from the Kansas City Kansan:

The Kansas Exhibitors' association, an organization of motion picture men with 360 members, representing an investment of more than $5,000,000 took its biggest hitch at the belt for general progress, when it signed to employ C. E. Cook, of Kansas City, as business manager. The position is new in the organization and the second of the kind in the United States. Michigan engaged a similar director a year ago.

The National Exhibitors' association, which was organized only two years ago, was one of the direct results of the Kansas association which was started four years ago as one of the immediate necessities of the business.

The Kansas men seriously were concerned in getting a national organization into motion, since state associations were more or less desultory in results without co-ordination of effort through the general agency of a national league. As soon as the national association got under way fully the Kansas men renewed efforts to promote the general standards of the business in their own territory by synchronizing its tendencies to a forward turn for the good of the industry and for the pleasure and profit of its patrons.

"Doc" is Institution

One of the first moves of its revision was to employ a business manager who will be to the association what the manager is to the modern chamber of commerce. Cook was selected for this work because of his record for business energy, constructive ability and his particular interest in the theatrical business.

Cook has been on the advertising staff of The Kansan ever since its first issue eighteen months ago and is known among his fellow workers as "Doc." That is largely because of the need of a descriptive cognomen in his case. C. E. Cook might mean merely a person any one of a hundred who could stick the name to a hotel register or pass on your credit at the corner grocery. Doc Cook is an institution.

The prefix Doc not only represents a person but it expresses an individuality among those who have the pleasure of knowing this charter member of the Go Getters Union in Kansas City. Doc Cook is a Jayhawker by training but a Missourian by birth having a tip top pair of parents for his debut in Maryville about the time Bryan began to run for president. Which doesn't mean by any means that his feathers are still in the pin stage, albeit he still has several years before him of that youth which confesses to loafing if the day's work has been less equal to whipping a township full of wild cats. He came to The Kansan from the Topeka Capital.

NODAWAY CO. WINS MO. RURALIST CUP

ON DISPLAY AT HOTCHKINS BOOK STORE

FOR ATTENDANCE POINTS

Saline Won It Last Year—Counties Closer Got Less Credit per Person

Representatives from Nodaway County returned from Sedalia last night carrying a large silver loving cup which was awarded to this county for having the largest percentage of attendance at the State Fair. The cup is one which is awarded by the Missouri Ruralists each year to the county with the largest percentage of attendance and was awarded to Saline County last year. A county must win the cup two years in succession in order to hold it as their own property.

The cup is on display this morning in the window of Hotchkin's book store. The engraving on the cup says "Championship attendance, Missouri State Fair, Awarded by The Missouri Ruralists, Saline County 1921." Saline County has won one of these cups two years in succession and held this cup last year.

The percentage is figured by the number from the county attending the fair and the distance which they had to come. Nodaway County has something like 2,000 points to her credit. Each person who registered from this county counted seven points. In counties nearer the fair, the registration of each individual counted less than they did as the counties were more distant from Sedalia.

ED HARTSOUGH OF WILCOX SUFFERS BROKEN LEG

Ed Hartsough of Wilcox suffered a broken ankle at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he went to get on the running board of the motor car of Howard Garrett, just after Mr. Garrett had left the ball game at Wilcox between Wilcox and Hopkins.

When Mr. Garrett was near the railroad crossing Mr. Hartsough ran to get in the car, which was moving at a pretty good rate. Just as he went to step on the running board, Mr. Hartsough stumbled. He caught on the side of the machine with his hands and as he was dragged along it ran over his right leg at the ankle. It is believed that the fact that Mr. Hartsough held to the side of the machine is the only thing that saved him from falling so that the wheel of the car would pass over the entire length of his body.

Mr. Garrett picked Mr. Hartsough up then went for Mrs. Hartsough. He brought the injured man to the St Francis hospital at Maryville, where an X-ray was taken. It was found that a small bone was broken and the ankle dislocated. The injury was treated and Mr. Hartsough was taken to his home. It is said that he suffered considerably last night, but that he is resting pretty well today.

M.H.S. REGISTRATION TO BE THIS WEEK

COMES ON WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY AND FRIDAY.

GRADE SCHOOLS MONDAY

Have Been Few Changes This Year in Courses—A Meeting of Faculty Saturday Afternoon.

L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of the Maryville public schools, announced this morning that registration for the opening of school will be Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. The seniors will be registered on Wednesday, the juniors on Thursday and on Friday the sophomores and freshmen will be signed up for their school work.

Registration will be held in the high school building in the mornings from 8:30 o'clock until noon and in the afternoons from 1:30 until 4 o'clock. The children in the grade schools will be enrolled at the different schools on Monday.

A geenral meeting of the members of the faculty of the public schools will be held at the Central High School building at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon Mr. Ziegler announced today.

Mr. Ziegler said that everything was well under way for the opening of the school year. Supplies have been ordered for the physics and chemistry courses and a few minor changes have been made. No material change has been made in the way of the buildings and only minor changes have been planned in the arrangements of the grades for the coming year. These changes have not been decided upon definitely and will be announced later.

Loren J. Schnabel, instructor in manual arts, has completed a new case to enclose the tools used in his department.

The course of study for the school year has not been changed for the coming year with one exception, vocational agriculture. H. G. Tilley, instructor in vocational agriculture, announced the change which would take place in his department. The work this year will be in animal husbandry, and will include three phases of work: farm animals, feeds and feeding of farm animals and the breeding of farm animals. Last year the work in vocational agriculture was devoted to soils and crops.

Mr. Tilley said that he expected a large enrollment in agriculture this year and that the students should enroll as early as possible because the enrollment in the work will necessarily be limited to thirty-two members this year. Beginners may take the work this year as the work is not a continuation of last year's work. The course will be limited to thirty-two members because there is equipment enough to accommodate only that number.

ZIEGLERS TO LIVE IN NEW HYSLOP FLATS

Mrs. L. E. Ziegler, who has spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Besgrove at Fayette, is expected home tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler will live in the new Hyslop flats, 223 East Fifth street.

NO DISSOLUTION FOR SKIDMORE

VOTE SATURDAY 227 FOR AND 252 AGAINST DISSOLUTION

MAY HAVE ANOTHER ONE

Those Who Want Consolidated District Feel That There is no Likelihood of Loosing

Skidmore is to continue for the present at least to have a consolidated school. In the election held Saturday for the purpose of testing the will of the voters of the district as to whether or not they want a consolidated school the anti-consolidation faction short of the two-thirds majority required for dissolution. It even failed to poll a majority in favor of dissolution. The number in favor of dissolving the consolidated district was 227 and the number against it was 252. It is said that the anti-consolidation faction is planning on another election some time during September.

Those who are against dissolution say that they plan on sending enough men to the polls at each time that the election is called to defeat the movement, since one more than one-third of the votes cast is all that is necessary. About 150 votes against dissolution at each election is all that is necessary to defeat those who would dissolve the consolidated district.

The tax levy for the Skidmore Consolidated district this year is 70 cents. It is said that this is only about 5 cents higher than the majority of the districts were paying before the consolidation. The Skidmore school was paying a levy of $2 before the consolidation. For the small amount of extra tax that is paid the districts have the privilege of sending their children to the high school at Skidmore free of tuition.

A business man of Skidmore said this morning that he hoped that another election would not be called, as it is considerable inconvenient to have them and as he does not feel that there is any show for the consolidation to be dissolved. The attempt Saturday was the third or fourth that has been made to dissolve the district.

The Skidmore Consolidated school will open Monday, September 4. There are two vacancies in the school but these are to be filled at a meeting of the board to be held this evening or tomorrow.

The members of the Skidmore school board are J. E. Pierpoint, president; M. A. Sewell, Halfred Botkin, Earl Stevenson, F. I. Goslee and Lee Teson, W. G. Reynolds is secretary.

Two of the members of the board are elected from the territory east of town, two from the territory west of town and two from in or near town.

FORTY-EIGHT MEN TRAPPED IN CALIFORNIA MINE

Little Hope Held Out for Getting Them Alive—Are Held in by Fire.

Jackson, Cal., Aug. 28.—Forty-eight miners are trapped forty-five hundred feet below the surface of the earth in the Argonaut mine, where a terrific blaze is burning at the three thousand foot level.

It is reported an effort will be made to run a new aid pipe through the lower levels of the mine. If this can be accomplished some hope is held for saving the men if they are still alive.

Three men came through the flames early today and told of the others' plight. Little hope is held for the safety of the entombed miners. All available help from surrounding mines was secured, but little can be done in combatting the flames, which may burn fiercely for several days. One hope is entertained in saving the men through the Kennedy mine, which adjoins the Argonaut. The bulkhead separating the mines will be blown out, but it is not known the amount of debris beyond the bulk head. It might require days to tunnel through the flames raging in the huge air pipes which supply the mine. Men may already be suffocated.

Miss Maxine Burnett will leave this afternoon for her home in Kansas City after a five weeks' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matt O'Brien.

LETTER TELLS OF OLD CRIME

ACHING CONSCIENCE CAUSES W. H. MEEKER TO CONFESS.

ASKS TO BE PUNISHED

(From Moberly Monitor-Index)

Six years ago W. H. Meeker, a telegraph operator, attempted to murder his wife and child by slashing them with a knife. Failing, he attempted to cut his own throat. Taken to a hospital, he escaped ,and was recaptured and put into another hospital, only to escape again and disappear completely. Today, because of a torturing conscience, he has been located once more.

A letter from Meeker was received by Prosecuting Attorney O'Bryan from an address in Omaha. The prosecuting attorney did not remember the crime which the writer confessed, but it was recalled by Chief of Police J. P. Mize and Deputy Sheriff Harry Polson.

After reading the letter, the local authorities stated they did not believe that Meeker's attempt to "get right with God" would result in his being brought back to Moberly for trial, as the confession, they said, shows that the man is still mentally unbalanced, as he was thought to be at the time of the crime which he declares was committed here.

The officers told the following story about the attack:

Slashed Them With Knife.

According to the two officers, Meeker, his wife and baby were staying at the Oliver Hotel. Ed Clark, now a Wabash employe, was night clerk at the hotel. About 7 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meeker came running downstairs with blood streaming from a wound in her throat. Mr. Clark called Officers Mize and Polson, who went to the hotel.

Mrs. Meeker told them that they were eating breakfast in their room when her husband suddenly leaned over and pulled a knife from his pocket, slashed the baby across the head and then cut her. She ran from the room.

Escaped From Two Hospitals.

The officers went upstairs to arrest the man and found him standing over a wash bowl trying to cut his own throat he had the knife blade in his jugular vein. The baby was lying on the floor in a pool of blood. Meeker was taken to the Wabash Hospital, and Mrs. Meeker and the baby were cared for. A few nights later Meeker escaped from the hospital and was found by Mr. Polson at the home of a man named Brown, near the hospital. He was then taken to the hospital at Maryville and jumped from a third story window, falling on his head. This was the last the officers heard of the man.

In his letter to the county authorities he asks the court to punish him for his act, which he confesses he attempted to commit. The letter is as follows:

Feigned Insanity.

"One of the most repulsive things I have to write about is the attempt on the lives of my wife, baby and myself in Moberly about six years ago. It was thought of and done in a moment of insane jealousy without as much as ten seconds' time to consider what was about to be done. Thank God, it was a failure. I would call it a jealous rage except that there was no rage.

"The child was injured when I acted under the delusion that it would be better to put it out of its misery, with

PROSPECT OF NEW FIGHT LOOMS NOW

MAINTENANCE OF WAY MEN MAY HELP SHOPMEN

MOVE FOOD THEN COAL

Tieup Continues at Roodhouse, Ill., on the Chicago and Alton—Mail By Trucks

Chicago, Aug. 28—Prospects of a bitter fight with four hundred thousand maintenance of way men throwing their strength to the striking shopmen loomed today when President Grable of the maintenance men demanded a new wage scale of 48 cents an hour minimum and the sky as the limit above that when the railroad labor board opened its hearings on the wage question.

Washington, Aug. 28—The move of food first then coal was the message which went out to the railroads today as a result of the President's conference with his "strike cabinet" over the week-end on the presidential yacht Mayflower. Springfield, Ill., Aug 28—All traffic on the Chicago and Alton to Roodhouse, Ill., where two railroad bridges were bombed yesterday, was at a standstill today, operating officials said here. Mail consigned to points on the Alton are being carried by the Burlington and by automobile.

Chicago, Aug. 28—Ten men are under arrest today and one made amazing confession of death and destruction in rail strike, the police say. Four of the men are said to be implicated by confession in wrecking the Michigan Central express at Gary, Ind., a few weeks ago.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

There is nothing like a political campaign for spoiling good reputations.

The women of this country should not forget, while providing themselves with cosmetics, that they are now expected to improve the complexion of politics also.

A California woman is said to have tried to buy an invalid wife's husband for $100 per month for the balance of her life. If he agreed, he probably isn't worth the market price of ordinary swine.

The House of Representatives at Washington passed a bill at the request of the administration, providing for a commission of nine men to investigate and "obtain all possible facts relating to the coal industry." The pay of the members of the commission is fixed at $7,500 per year and $300,000 is appropriated for the upkeep of the commission. This commission is expected to accumulate information on which to base a permanent agreement between coal operators and mine workers. The agreement just entered into is simply an extension of the scale and conditions that expired March 31 last until March 31 next. The whole country will join in the hope that a basis for permanent peace may be found in time to prevent another rupture next summer.

A lot of men were opposed to the State Road bond issue for no better reason than that they are constitutionally opposed to anything that is not already, continued to oppose every development of the project after the proposition was voted by the people. A few, actuated by the same feelings are pursuing the same course toward the work of the constitutional convention which was likewise ordered by the voters of the state. The convention was ordered, the delegates were elected, the convention is being held. Why not let them do their best? The people will have another chance to pass upon their work and approve it or disapprove it. If they do good work and make such revision of the old constitution as will be a benefit to the whole people, the great state of Missouri can well afford the expense and it is certainly not good business to attempt to make their work a failure after the state has gone to the expense of holding an election and of holding the convention. There is no profit in chronic mossbackism either individually or collectively.

PROGRESSIVE DIST. SOUTH MARYVILLE

MARTHA WASHINGTON HAS EXCELLENT EQUIPMENT.

ONCE PART TOWN SCHOOL

Has Paid Some High and Some Low Salaries in the Past Fifty Years.

"Everybody in the band wagon. Let's go."

This is the slogan in the Martha Washington district, joining Maryville on the south. It is the wealthiest district in the county, with a possible exception of one, outside of the town schools. The people of the district are especially anxious to make it a good one and they are proud of it. It is to open Monday, September 4.

Following is a history of the school:

The Martha Washington School district originally was part of the Maryville district and school was held in a little brick school house located on the Maryville and Arkoe road one-half mile south of the Frank Goodspeed place. This was in 1871.

In 1880 the present school house was erected at its present and more central location by Lyman Young, a contractor then living at Maryville. The acre of land that the school now occupies was donated to the district by the late Washington Hoshor.

The board of education when the new school house was erected was Charles E. Carr, Isaac J. Crossan and A. J. Burks. The first teacher employed at the new location was Edwin Falloon.

From 1871 to 1880 the teachers who taught at the little bricks were Robert Mayhue, John M. Bell, Harvey Grantham, L. A. Kimball and John Whitnack.

About seventy-five teachers have taught school during the life of the district. The lowest salary ever paid was to Adah Burks in 1890. It was $18.75 per month. The largest salary ever paid was to Effie Henderson last year, $125.00 per month. The salary this year will be $110.00 per month.

The school has advanced along progressive lines and is now recognized as one of the best rural schools in the state. The present board is composed of Wm. Sturm, L. E. Lyle and C. D. McKibban. Mr. Lyle is also the clerk Mr. McKibban, the president, is the oldest member of the board, having first been elected in 1889 and a member almost continuous since. He has served through the administrations of Chaney, Duncan, Hawkins, McCann, Oakerson, Cooper and now Somerville.

Among the old settlers who first organized the district are recalled Henry Myers, A. J. Burks, Isaac J. Crossan, Charles E. Carr, David T. McKibban, Washington Hoshor and E. Y. Shinabargar all deceased.

The board met a few days ago and ordered a general clean up preparatory to the opening of school September 4. The yard has been mowed, the well and toilets gone over and the fence and swings have been painted snow white, new window shades have been put up, the furnace blackened, the house and windows washed, a new flag purchased and all the other necessary equipment and incidentals have been provided for.

The school is well equipped having a good library, organ, grafanola, furnace, oil stove and a complete set of carpenter tools. The district and Board are working in harmony to make the Martha Washington school not only the leading rural school in the county but the leading and most progressive in the state.

The school the coming year will be a 9 month school. Miss Maye Sturm will be in charge.

Glass Factory of the Bureau of Standards

In the busy city of Washington, where lawmakers are fixing tariffs to protect American industries, another branch of Uncle Sam's government is striving to put American goods above competition and to help win for America trade here and abroad. Glass is a difficult article to manufacture, particularly fine glass for lenses, etc. The above scene was photographed at the bureau of standards, where there is a complete glass factory. The picture shows men doing finishing operations on optical glass.

Eleven years without a puncture.

This is the record of David Spuhler, who ilves near Skidmore ,in running his queer looking motor car. But the car is not the kind with inflated tires. It is one of the Sears variety. The wheels are of wood much like those of a buggy and the machine looks like a buggy.

Mr. Spuhler was in Maryville this morning driving the machine. He bought it more than eleven years ago. It cost $400. The motor is underneath the body and is a two cylinder affair. The machine will travel about twelve or fourteen miles an hour and burns about a gallon of gasoline every twelve miles.

The machine is in good state of repair and Mr. Spuhler says that he uses it for all trips he makes when he is in no special hurry. If he must hurry to some place he uses a Ford car that he keeps, he says.

About the only drawback about the machine, outside of the fact that it does not travel so very fast ,is that it does not get along very well in the mud. It is not equipped with chains and is likely to skid. Care is used to stay off the roads when they are muddy.

When asked this morning if he has any trouble getting repairs for the machine Mr. Spuhler said, "Repairs, why, I never have to buy any. I have not bought a repair for this machine yet and I have used it all the time."

RESULTS OF BALL GAMES IN NODAWAY CO. YESTERDAY

Ravenwood vs. Island City.

The Ravenwood baseball team defeated the Island City team yesterday afternoon at Ravenwood by a score of 10 to 3. Ross and Bishop was Ravenwood's battery and Miller and Simmons the battery for Island City.

The Ravenwood nine expects to meet the Southwest Baseball Club at Ravenwood tomorrow. The game has not been definitely matched yet.

Wilcox vs. Hopkins.

Wilcox defeated Hopkins yesterday afternoon by a score of 11 to 0. The feature of the game was the pitching of "Whitey" Kenon of Wilcox, who seemed to be a puzzle to the Hopkins batters as he made fourteen of them "fan the air" and allowed only two hits. One of Hopkins' men reached third base. Tobin of Wilcox hit a home run in the first inning.

Tyree, pitcher for Hopkins, was handicapped by a sprained ankle which he received in the game with Red Oak, Ia., last week. He was taken out of the box and Ray Cunning finished the game. The battery yesterday was Hopkins: Tyree, Cunning and Casey; Wilcox, Kenon and Tobin.

The battery for the Maryville Minks was Buhler, Woodard and Busby and for Graham it was Messick and McDowell.

The Minks will play the Guilford team next week at Guilford. Buhler will pitch the entire game next Sunday.

PROFITEER AT HIS BEST

English Hotel Proprietor Could Give Pointers to the Experts of the United States.

"I shall refuse to pay for attendance," said the irate tourist who had been staying at an old-fashioned country hotel and who had just been presented with his bill. "Why, the bells in the rooms are a perfect disgrace; not one of them would ring. Everything I wanted I had to fetch myself. I must have spent hours tugging at those bell-pulls."

"It's true we have charged for attendance," said the smiling proprietor, "but we have charged you nothing for your physical culture course."

"Physical culture course!" exclaimed the tourist, in surprise. "I don't know what you mean."

"The daily use of our dumb-bells," was the cool retort.

ERROR HARD TO ERADICATE

Even Those Who Know Better Are Unwilling to Obey This Particular Grammatical Law.

Discussing Doctor Sapir's book on language, A. L. Kroeber says in the Dial that we all tend to say "Who did you see?" and shows why in spite of its "incorrectness" we all at times slip into it. "Whom has become isolated, the only word of its class, the only emphatic and interrogative word normally at the head of its sentence, that retains the objective ending. Unconsciously, the "m" makes us uncomfortable. The rules teach it, but the rules are no longer living, they are in conflict with the irrational but psychologically valid drift of modern English, and we feel happier with who than with whom in our mouths. The uneducated abandon themselves unrestrainedly. The sophisticated and timid vacillate between the discomfort of breaking with the authority of tradition and the irritation of a usage that has slipped into silent contradiction with the real forces that make English a living tongue. But all alike we edge ever farther away from the whom because of the 'hesitation values' which are hooking themselves to it."

The Prophylactic Sardine.

Rejoicing in the fact that yellow fever will soon disappear from South America, the "Petit Parisien" invokes thanks to the sardines.

It is known that the fever is communicated by the bite of a mosquito that lives in the swamps.

Now it has been noticed that a species of sardine, the shatta gets easily acclimated in fresh water and, what is more, it manifests a very marked predilection for the larvae of mosquitoes.

One can easily guess the sequel. The shattas, netted in great numbers, are thrown into the marshes, where they destroy the larvae. No more mosquitoes, no more fever.

Bobbed Hair an Old Fad.

Bobbed hair and earpuffs were fashionable 2,500 years ago, according to the results of an investigation conducted by students of the University of California, who recently produced "The Vision of Marpessa," a Grecian outdoor pageant.

Several of the girls had demurred at taking part because they feared their bobbed locks would not look sufficiently ancient. An investigation was started and the students and their faculty advisors found that the Greek women of centuries ago bobbed their hair, used earpuffs and also resorted to brilliantine and other beauty aids on occasion.

The Free for All.

The exorbitant prices that prevail all over the world led Col. Charles L. Forbes, director of the Veterans' bureau, to say at a reception in Washington:

"These unreasonable prices naturally make men think that post-war immorality in the business world is more rapacious than prewar morality was.

"It used to be that a man was content to hold his own. Today he insists on holding other people's."

Nature in Freakish Mood.

We are told that a sheep gave birth to twin lambs in Ontario. Not that this is odd, but one of the lambs was big and healthy, while the other was badly misformed. The poor misformed animal lived only about ten minutes; it had two full-grown bodies, one head and eight legs, two front ones, four hind ones and two growing out of its back.—Exchange.

THE FAILURE

Did we but stand alone in that man's place,
Had we but trod the path whereon he fell,
Had known the cares of life that line his face
And dim his eyes and darken soul as well,
Perhaps then we would wish for caverns deep,
That we might pass within to silent sleep.

If we had seen what snares beset his way,
What dreams of youth had into darkness passed,
Had felt the tempter's lure, our reason sway,
Or seen life's dearest hopes caught in the blast,
Might we not then, with weakness, sin and fall,
And pray that darkness come and cover all?

Much better with kind words we light his way,
For budded in that soul perhaps may be
Thoughts that will blossom into life one day,
And fill some lonely heart with melody,
Let's not, with mocking sneers, his hopes appall;
Perchance we, too, along life's way may fall.

—W. H. Gilliland, in Kansas City Times.

ABOUT LIMIT IN EFFICIENCY

Canadian Inventor's Device Provides Power Which Even the Oldest Person May Generate.

Efficiency experts have long lamented the waste of energy involved when a dog wags its tail. They should be pleased with a remarkable invention of J. T. Lemyre of Maskinonge, Can.

His invention would appeal even more to lazy men than to efficiency experts. It consists of a machine actuated by a rocking-chair which generates enough power to run washing machines, sewing machines, electric fans, etc. A factory to manufacture this device will be built at Sorel, Quebec.

Lemyre's invention is a pleasant transformation of the old-time treadmill. Those familiar with the law of conservation of energy will smile at it. However, rocking in a chair is more pleasant than running on a treadmill, even if the operator only imagines that he is not working.—Cleveland News-Leader.

Historic Home Abandoned.

Harpers, the famous publishing house in Franklin square, is to abandon the ground it has held for nearly a century. Through its quaint wrought iron portals have passed the most famous writers of England and America. The firm is to occupy new quarters at Camden, N. J. If ever a spot in old New York could echo with the footsteps of countless vanished celebrities as did the ancient street corner in the "Tale of the Two Cities" with the phantom feet of an unseen mob, that spot would be the doorway of the old Harper publishing house. The official title of the firm was and is "Harper & Bros." Some person asked one which was Harper. "Any one of us is Harper and the other two are the brothers," was the reply.—New York World.

Rabbit and Sheep Comrades.

An Ontario reader of the Montreal Family Herald says he had a large white rabbit given him this winter by a neighbor. He had no place to put it, so he made a pen in the sheep house for it. The rabbit was kept there for about a week, then it was left in with the sheep. The bunny made friends with one of the sheep and slept on its back at night. When the sheep were put out to pasture the rabbit went with them and stayed close by its friend's head while eating. Whenever the sheep would lay down bunny would jump onto its back and lay there until the sheep got up again. When it is time for the sheep to come home bunny takes the lead in place of a bellwether and brings them right to their barn.

He Knew Stevenson.

Dan, the Battery boatman, is a character known to every ship news reporter. He drifted into ship news headquarters 15 years ago, a derelict from a tramp steamer. He had once voyaged with Stevenson and he became ambitious to write. He acts as a sort of messenger boy and picks up small change and enough to eat. Each day he writes an article which he gives to some one of the scribes. He has never reached print with his stuff, but he keeps at it. And he does not complain because editors do not accept his wares.—Rochester Herald.

Broadcasting.

She is seventy-six years old, but she has young ideas.

The other evening she observed two men putting up the wires for a radio outfit. She watched them for awhile, then strolled back into the kitchen and said to her daughter:

"This is a wonderful age. Two young men are arcoss the street putting up one of those—oh, what do you call them—one of those everybody's business things."

Hotel Built on Gold Mine.

Eight years ago a new hotel was constructed in Helena, Mont., on Main street which occupies the site of Last Chance gulch, where the placer miners worked in the sixties and extracted something like $20,000,000. The contractor who excavated for the foundation hauled the ground away, washed it in sluice-boxes and made a tidy sum of money. It happened that the old-time placer miners didn't work the ground thoroughly. There are large areas of so-called placer ground in various parts of Western Montana which contain gold and which, according to report, might be profitable if dredged on a large scale.—Chester C. Davis, commissioner of agriculture of Montana, in Adventure Magazine.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION WANTS A NATIONAL GUARD COMPANY

Application Was Made to Adjutant General Raupp but He Advises Joining Battery Here

It was learned today throught a reliable source that Lee G. Yaple of Burlington Junction had written to W. A. Raupp, adjutant general, at Jefferson City, regarding the forming of a Missouri National Guard unit at that place and that the adjutant replied, saying that the town is too small to support such an organization. The adjutant suggested that a battery is being formed at Maryville and that it would be possible for the men from Burlington Junction to belong to that battery.

Rolf Rayner, in charge of the organizing of the battery here in the absence of Captain Eugene A. Maynor, said today that it would be possible to take care of all the men from Burlington Junction who care to come into the battery or the headquarters company.

Following are the men who have signed up for the battery here since the list was published last week: Claude Wilson, Henry Bueler, Perry Culver, Pete Evert, Harold Hise, Fred Knox, Leo Knox, William McDougal, Arthur Seaton, Frank Wells, Virgil C. McCormick, and Charles Wiles. The total number is now sixty-seven.

To Government Hospital.

Fay Corrough of Arkoe went today to the government hospital in Kansas City, where he will be for the next three or four months receiving treatment for one of his arms which was wounded in the war. The wound was attended to at Camp Dodge but it seems further attention and treatment is needed and the arm will have to be put in cast for several weeks.

Making New Markets With Printers Ink

One of the most striking changes of the past ten years is that which has come about in the important business of housekeeping. In this short time the broom and the washboard have vanished from the housewife's coat of arms, and the comic pictures in which Mary hurls the flatiron at John don't ring true, as they once did.

Broom, washboard and flatiron have given way to suction sweeper, electric washing machine and electric iron. And Mary doesn't hurl the iron at John any longer, not simply because it's fastened to a cord, but because she's taking no chances with it.

What has brought about this new and agreeable state of affairs? Well, how did Mary happen to buy that new iron which has proved such a boon to herself—and John? She saw it advertised, of course. And the multiplied Marys of today represent a great market created largely through national advertising.

No wonder the alert retailer and the wholesaler have come to hold national advertising in high esteem—for besides making easier for them the sale of goods with long-established markets, quickening their turnover, protecting them against inferior merchandise benefiting them in many other ways, national advertising is constantly creating markets for new merchandise and opening up new channels of trade.

It is because America reads advertising that the new idea today so swiftly supplants the old. Advertising changes deep-rooted habits. Advertising creates new desires. Advertising sets new and better standards. And all this it does with amazing swiftness—for advertising speaks to millions simultaneously.

The safety razor, the player piano, massage cream, the glass baking dish, wallboard, fireproof roofing, the talking machine, soap flakes, canned soup — one could go on indefinitely extending the list of products which today testify to the ability of national advertising to create new merchandise demands.

There is probably no industry today for which advertising has not blazed new trails. There is no merchant, wholesale or retail, the scope of whose business it has not greatly widened.

But the main thing which advertising does for the retailer is to speed up his turnover; that's what makes him a profit.

Know That You Get Genuine Dry Cleaning

A blacksmith may advertise "Watches Cleaned," but you'll still take your timepiece to a jeweler. You know that the jeweler is competent to clean your watch properly, he specializes on this work.

But when your clothes need Dry Cleaning, are you sure they go to a specialist, one who knows the Dry Cleaning business and has the equipment essential to quality work?

Genuine Dry Cleaning requires expert workmen who are masters of their trade. Every step of the cleaning process requires exacting care based on "years of knowing how." The result is that every particle of dirt is removed from the garments, leaving them fresh, bright and clean.

WITH NODAWAY CO. FARMERS

B. O. Swalley

B. O. Swalley, three and a half miles southeast of Pickering, is putting his home in condition to enjoy the long winter evenings and to make everything around the house more comfortable for Mrs. Swalley. Workmen will begin Monday installing a new pipeless furnace in the house and water pipes are all in place and connected with the wind mill well. All that is necessary now to have running water in the house is for the plumbers to install the equipment inside. Plumbers are expected to begin the work the first of the week.

Mr. Swalley has the windmill connected so that it will pump the water to the top of a hill just north of his house to a tank of about sixty barrels capacity. The tank placed on the hill will supply gravity pressure which will put running water in the basement and first floor of the home. The house will be equipped with bath, toilet and sink.

Mr. Swalley said that they called his farm "Sandhill" but he thought that "Chalk hill" would be better. When he was digging the pit for his tank he said that they dug down about five feet and then struck clay. They decided to put in a little dynamite to help along, but he said that a three quarters of a stick of dynamite didn't kick out enough dirt to force the smoke out of the hole.

T. L. McClurg

T. L. McClurg has under construction a new building in which he will have a place to smoke his fall hams, a room for the wash house and a bath tub and toilet when he gets it completed. The new structure is 12 x28 feet. It sets on a cement foundation and it is the plan to have a cement floor which will slope to the center from both sides with a gradual fall to the west end. The building sets just west of the house. The water for the building will be supplied from a tank into which it is pumped by a gasoline engine. He expects to have the new structure complete by the end of next week.

John McGuire of Pickering designed and is helping in the construction of the building. After he completes that job he will go to the Charles Stafford farm, near the Fair View school, to finish the construction of a built-in cupboard.

Guy Aley

Guy Aley, north of Maryville has recently bought a new registered Shropshire ram which will be quit an addition to his twenty head of purebred animals. Mr. Aley's new ram has a good pedigree behind it, being sired by the Grand Champion ram of England and the dam was the second prize ewe at the Ontario show two years ago.

Mr. Aley is feeding out about thirty head of Duroc Jersey fall pigs but says that he is not going into the hog business very extensively for breeding purposes. Mrs. Aley beat him to one good source of pig feed this spring when she informed him that he did not need to expect to feed his pigs the skimmed milk, which they have left from the milking of six jersey cows, because she was going to take charge of the milk and feed it to her chickens. Mrs. Aley set enough hens to hatch off 700 chickens this spring and from the time that they hatched until they were taken from the hens she did not loose but seven chickens. She feeds them on clabber milk.

Mrs. Aley is interested in the white leghorn chickens and believes in letting the hens care for the chickens. She work on the assumption that during the setting time there is more trouble in caring for the hens than for the incubator, but after the chickens hatch there is less trouble with the small chickens.

Mr. Aley has twelve acres of alfalfa from which he will soon be ready to cut the fourth crop this year. He finished up sowing another field of alfalfa in which there is about four acres. He did not innoculate his soil but he believes in cultivating the crop and says that next year he will go over the alfalfa with a spring tooth harrow to kill out the weeds.

Therman Carmichael.

Therman Carmichael, north of Maryville, has his house off of the foundation and on skids, ready to move it across a draw and down the road north about 200 yards. He expects to begin the moving by the first of the week.

The house will be moved to a point north of the present location where Mr. Carmichael has graded down the hill and leveled off a splendid place for a yard. The new location will give the house a place which will dominate the 120 acre farm with excellent drainage for the home. The move is expected to be completed in about a week. The garage and other out houses will also be placed at the new location.

Mr. Carmichael recently bought fourteen registered Duroc Jersey sows which are beginning to farrow. He also has about forty acres of good corn which keeps him from worrying about what he will do next spring to furnish his pigs with feed.

J. L. Clayton.

J. L. Clayton, northeast of Pickering is busy watching forty-one head of week old Duroc Jersey pigs. He has some pigs which will soon be ready for the market and a registered Duroc boar which has the size and has the real Duroc rich red color.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton have about 300 white leghorn chickens which they intend to keep them in a good supply of eggs this winter. Mr. Clayton says that he has not culled his hens this fall but that he has culled them every year until now and he hasn't many hens now which are not good egg producers.

Martin Roots.

Martin Roots, a mile and a quarter north of Maryville, says that he is thinking of cutting down his operations in truck farming. He is past 82 years old and says that the work is more than he can stand at his advanced age.

Mr. Roots was in town this morning with a large tomato of the Trucker's Favorite variety, which he grew at his farm. It weighed a pound and a half and was eight inches in circumference. He has three-quarters of an acre of tomatoes. He has been in the truck business at his farm for thirty-five years.

H. A. Watts

H. A. Watts at his place a half mile north of the State Teachers College is busy all the time now picking apples and taking them to town. His heaviest crop now is the yellow transparent, although he has a good many of the strawberry variety. He has had a heavy crop of fruit throughout ths year. Not so very long ago he was having a time picking his plumbs.

Produce Review.

Fresh eggs are in lighter supply, with the market absorbing fine stock about as fast as received. A good many eggs are being withdrawn from storage and prices show but little change during the week.

Better care during the summer and more frequent marketing of eggs are essential, if top prices are to be secured.

Poultry movement has been heavier, and indications point to a still larger movement in the near future. Selling prices are lower on live poultry in the eastern markets.

The large number of Leghorn chickens marketed was particularly noticeable. As buyers are discriminating in favor of the larger breeds, lower prices are being paid for Leghorns and the smaller varieties of chickens.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture report of August 21 gives the following comparative stocks of poultry in storage on August 1:

Excess— 9,490,000 lbs.

While some sections report lighter receipts of cream, due to the hot, dry weather, the total amount of butter manufactured this week will show but little decrease from the previous week. The cold storage warehouses in Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia show an increase in their holdings over a week ago, indicating that production is still ahead of consumption.

ALL HOMES WHERE MAIL DELIVERED MUST HAVE BOX OR SLOT.

Washington, August 28.—The Post Office Department sent out notices to postmasters that mail was not to be delivered to any residence that did not provide a letter box, or have a slot in the front door.

Four months are to be given to citizens to provide the box or slot. The department prefers the slot.

The order applies to separate residences. It does not affect business houses, hotels and apartment houses. Under the order the delivery of mail is to be stopped four months from now at houses, which do not make the required provision.

Why the order was issued was explained by Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett. "It is now timely," he said, "to put an end to needless delays to letter carriers caused by the necessity of stopping, ringing door bells and waiting for dwellers to respond to get their mail.

"The American public has shown a great interest in facilitating the postal service. Seevnty per cent of the home dwellers have heartily co-operated in the recent campaign of the post office to provide door slots and receptacles to hasten the delivery of the mails by letter carriers. The other 30 per cent have failed to respond whether through negligence or indifference.

"While it is not the desire of the department to deprive any citizen of mail delivery, the present action seems so reasonable, and the compliance with its terms so inexpensive that it has been decided to make it sweeping in character. Postmasters have been instructed, therefore, to give all patrons in their community four months' notice, after which delivery of mails will be discontinued at residences where no door slots or mail receptacles have been provided."

C. A. Lamar of Morris, Okla., is visiting in Maryville with his sisters, Mrs. L. E. Carpenter, Mrs. L. P. Colvin and Mrs. W. W. Jones.

CLINE CLOSES UNION SERVICES FOR METHODIST CHURCHES

Said Last Night That He Wishes Congregations Might be United For All Times

The Rev. B. F. Cline, pastor of the Buchanan Street Methodist Church, preached last night at his church the closing sermon for the series of Sunday evening union services that have been held by the First and Buchanan Street Methodist churches. Mr. Cline said that the union services had been a pleasure to him and expressed the wish that in place of the two congregations being united for a few weeks during the summer that they might be united for all times.

The sermon last night was also the last one of the conference year for Mr. Cline. He will go Tuesday to Moberly, where he will attend the annual conference of the church. Following the sermon last night he said that it was probable that he would be returned to Maryville.

There will be no services at the Buchanan street church next Sunday, since conference will still be going on at that time.

INDUSTRY TO GET COAL FIRST

Missouri Householders Next, Says Fuel Chairman—No Shortage Feared

Jefferson City, Aug. 28—Domestic consumers are urged not to attempt to obtain their winter supply of coal now, in a letter sent to county coal committees Saturday by Hugh McIndoe, chairman of the Mo. coal commission. He said there would be coal for the domestic users after the urgent needs of utilities and necessary industries are supplied. Mr. McIndoe pointed out that the industries must have the first call, as most of them are virtually without coal.

There is no need for uneasiness, Mr. McIndoe says, on the part of the housholders about getting a winter supply, from the present outlook, as the mines that are resuming work are better equipped for large production that ever before.

Unless there is a complete failure of transportation facilities there will be coal for all, is the general tenor of his advice.
